ABOUT THE WEBINAR

With continue propagation of pandemic period since last two years while of the world has started working from home and teaching is not first than any aspect in this regard, ICT has revolutionized the teaching methodology. It has been observed that most of the institutions are organizing many online activities but restricted to teaching fraternity only. Students coming approach has not got much momentum as they are restricted to online learning only while sitting on teaching end. Educational institution of higher learning cannot achieve its landmark without getting its main stakeholders parallelly i.e. students. With this background an endeavor has been made to provide a platform to the budding learners to get first hand in online delivery as well.
